Update on NATSIWA.

A message from the Chair- Mary Cowley

Jamie Cave – Tasmania NATSIWA rep (with glasses) sharing her information on her Commission on the Status of Women meetings in New York representing NATSIWA 13-24th March 2017.

Jamie at the "Ending Violence against Indigenous Women as a step towards empowerment: side event.

Of major concern is the disappearing of Native women and sex trafficking. Also of note was the correlation between exploratory industries (such as mining) and sex trafficking.

NATSIWA have applied for their three year funding and we will receive information of the outcome by the end of June 2017.

NATSIWA are in negation on a project with 1800RESPECT- The National sexual assault domestic violence counselling service. We will continue to update you on this project.

In 2017, Tammy was inducted into the WA Women's Hall of Fame in recognition of her work.

Cassie Lang – Senior Legal Office at the Torres Strait Regional Authority – doing Native Titles

I am a Bundjalung woman from the north coast of New South Wales. I grew up in Brisbane. I hold a Bachelor of Laws/Bachelor of Justice and a Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice from Queensland University of Technology. I am admitted as a solicitor in the Supreme Court of Queensland and the High Court of Australia.

I have spent the past eight years specialising in Indigenous law, with a particular focus on native title and cultural heritage matters.

I am currently employed as the Senior Legal Officer at the Torres Strait Regional Authority and reside on Thursday Island, a remote island in the Torres Strait.

For the past 4 years, I have been the Vice President of the Indigenous Lawyers Association of Queensland. In this capacity, I co-chaired the committee which organised the 2nd World Indigenous Legal conference hosted by the Indigenous Lawyers Association of Queensland in June 2014, attended by over 200 delegates.

I am constantly seeking opportunities to build on my 8 years of progressive experience as a native title practitioner. I share my knowledge and experience of Commonwealth, State, Local government regulations and other laws to empower grassroots Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Peoples' to implement change. I hope my work as a native title lawyer can assist in the continued transfer of traditional knowledge,
